

She Calls Once That Is A Lie

When she calls in the morning
I've changed my number address identifying features
I've sacrificed my name when she calls in the morning
With news she's selling my teeth on eBay
The teeth she broke off
One by one
While I was sleeping that is a lie when she Calls in the morning I was awake
Each time she whittled away my ability to bite
Once on VH1 in a thrash metal rockumentary that is a lie
It was at the Kentucky Derby when she calls in the morning
She's taken all my hats and next my hair
And my scalp is an angry red gash
Once eating toffee by the sea that is a lie
When she calls in the morning it was a reststop
In Jersey and the assortment was unreal
And of all things I chose Dentine
Once I knew all the lemon drops by names
And identifying features they had names
When she calls in the morning she wants the children
When she calls in the morning and then the house
And the hospital where they won't operate on me
There are no spare parts not even a space between Whistling
Like a fist of the bank in wet
Season lying through her teeth